CRL is not a direct service provider. CRL is helping your child because a professional care provider identified a critical need for services and/or equipment and asked us to help facilitate the provision of services and/or equipment. CRL is not treating or diagnosing the child, nor is CRL prescribing, recommending or endorsing the equipment/services contemplated. While CRL hopes that this effort will be beneficial, CRL makes no representation, warranties or promises with respect to the equipment/services.

In the case of a service, you should know that CRL did not choose the service provider, CRL does not employ the service provider, and CRL did not screen the service provider. CRL takes no responsibility for the actions, inactions, or negligence of the service provider. In the case of equipment, you should know that CRL did not manufacture the equipment, CRL does not warrant the equipment, and as with any piece of equipment, CRL recommends that you seek professional advice and instruction before using the equipment. If you are being provided with equipment from the CRL equipment locker, then you must read and sign an additional disclosure and release form.
